Cover of the first issue of Jus Vini - Journal of Wine & Spirits Law, 2018

Jus Vini, the Journal of Wine & Spirits Law, is a bilingual (English/French) peer-reviewed legal journal published twice a year (June and December), promoting legal scholarship in the field of wine and spirits law.

Jus Vini publishes articles, essays, case law notes, reports, briefs and book reviews on national and international laws concerning wines and spirits as well as the analysis of significant case law and the evolution of the legal theories underpinning the law. The Journal has a strong comparative bent.

The Journal of Wine & Spirits Law is edited by the Wine & Law Program – A Jean Monnet Chair, of the University of Reims (www.wine-law.org), with the support of the International Wine Law Association (AIDV). Any material published in the Journal reflects the views and opinions of each individual
